

We closed down our office on June 5th to celebrate the United Nations' World Environment Day with pupils from Heath Mount School in Hertford.

Pupils learnt about recycling, sustainability and transport, with the latter including a ride on a horse to illustrate how our transport has changed.

Staff from Paradise Wildlife Park, a green energy uk customer, also attended the event, showing exotic animals and giving a talk about animals and their natural habitats.

There was also a quiz for pupils and a colouring competition with prizes for a family to visit Paradise Wildlife Park. The UN asked people to plant trees to commemorate World Environment day and two lime trees were planted in the grounds of the school.

This initiative was part of our support for the UN's 'Seal the Deal' campaign, which aims to engage governments and people to reach a global climate agreement.
